Instructions

In their patrols, have the participants pick one of the sustainable development goals to focus on. Set them the task of researching different partnerships that are associated with this goal, and what the different companies and organisations in these partnerships are doing to help achieve the goal.

When they have completed their research, have them think about the different companies and organisations in their area, is there anything they could be doing to help achieve the goal?

Have groups create a letter including steps they think the company or group could take to help and contact them. If possible, arrange a meeting to discuss in person the ideas they have.
