Instructions

In their patrols, have participants chose a gender inequality or injustice they see in their daily lives, community or country.

Have them create material to raise awareness of this inequality. They can create posters, social media posts, hashtags, videos, anything they think will help to educate others in their community about this injustice.

At the end, all groups present their work and explain why they chose this inequality.

They can display these posters in their local meeting place and could help promote their social media campaigns on their unit pages if possible.
